Amazon Packaging Requirements: A Guide To FBA Packaging Done Right

The Amazon platform has many rules and regulations for its sellers, the Amazon packaging requirements for merchandise being one of them.

There are three types of Amazon fulfilment:

FBM(Fulfilled By Merchant)

SFP(Seller Fulfilled Prime)/FBM(Fulfilled by Merchant)

FBA (Fulfilled By Amazon)

Amazon Packaging Requirements: A Guide To FBA Packaging Done Right

There are various debates for FBA vs FBM, but no matter what fulfilment route you decide on for your business, you need to follow the Amazon packaging requirements and strict policies for sending product orders to customers. Both FBM and SFP require the seller themselves to process and send out orders to customers.

If you are a seller on Amazon, you do have the option to sign up and register for the Amazon FBA program. There is no fee to sign up, and it is ultimately more convenient than the other fulfilment options available.

A seller that is registered in the FBA program needs to pay fees but enjoys many privileges. You get access to Amazon Prime customers, enjoy free shipping on your product, Amazon handles customer service plus returns for you and are even able to process orders from other platforms.

There are a number of Amazon FBA fees charged to FBA sellers, but they pay for the ultra-premium services Amazon handles on your behalf. For FBA sellers, Amazon takes care of order processing, picking, packing, packaging and shipping to your customers.

Granted that Amazon handles your product when it gets shipped to a customer, but they still want you to follow FBA packaging requirements when sending products to their warehouses.

Packaging Individual products:

Packaging for individual products need to be labelled with a barcode.

All items in the same package must have the same SKU. In case you are selling a product with several items in the set then each set must be packaged together.

Make sure there are no other barcodes on the box other than your own.

Use laserjet printers to ensure your barcode label will not fade.

If your product is sharp, prone to damage or sensitive to external forces, then each item must be wrapped by protective packaging like bubble wrap.

You can use regular cardboard boxes when packaging your products.

If you have your own Amazon FBA private label, then prepare your merchandise the same way you want your customers to receive them.
